Undeveloped waterfront a 'rare opportunity'

■ West Sacramento's middle riverfront -- where the barge canal, river, South River Road and Jefferson Boulevard converge -- presents an opportunity to master-plan close to 230 acres of bare land

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Calling it "California's most significant riverfront development opportunity," West Sacramento officials are in the process of selecting a planner to design over 200 acres of land surrounding the city's barge canal and riverfront junction.

Such a large project has never been done by the city before, said Redevelopment Director Val Toppenberg. And it represents an unusual chance to master-plan a large amount of waterfront land.

"This is a very unique opportunity for both West Sacramento and the region," he said. "There aren't any sites like this in the region. Most of the land is owned by the redevelopment agency, and a small portion is owned by the city, at the wastewater plant that's going to be closed."

"The biggest piece that is kind of contiguous is about 150 acres," he added. "That's immediately south of the barge canal, right along the Sacramento River. That includes 64 acres acquired from the port and 85 acquired from the Army Corps of Engineers."

RIGHT: shaded areas represent zones of the district under study; the river is at right, barge canal across the center, and Jefferson Blvd. runs roughly north-south vertically through the middle

"This is a great opportunity for a mixed use project," Toppenberg said. "We envision perhaps a central park for the city, possibly a marina, possibly some retail but definitely not 'big box' retail. We think there's an opportunity for lodging – there could be a boutique-type hotel next to a marina. There could be an opportunity for gathering places – people who want to get married might be able to do that, overlooking the water."

A "request for qualifications" from interested planners is now in the works. A preliminary meeting with interested planners and consultants drew about 70 people, said Toppenberg.

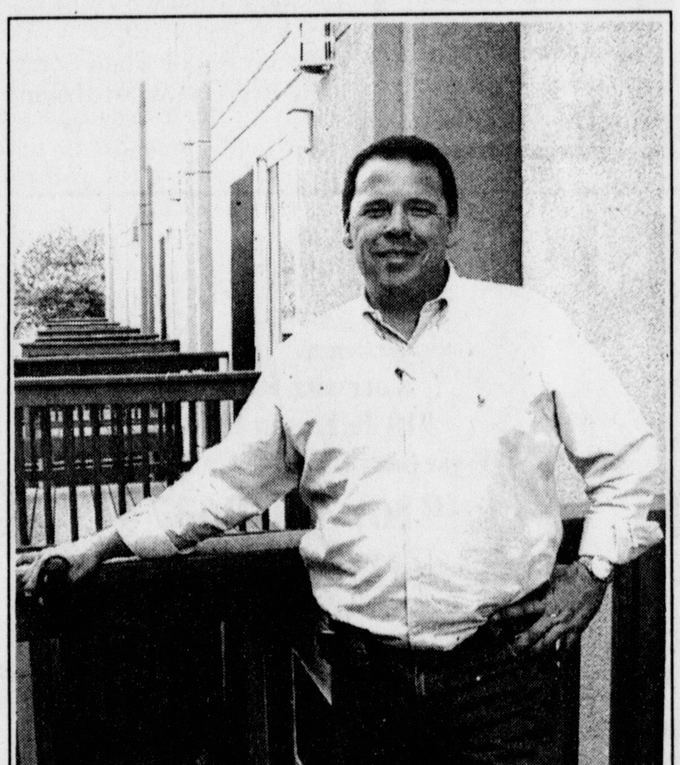
A final choice of a master planner will go to the city council for approval. After that, there will be community meetings and development of a master plan. Then there will be environmental review and a schedule for acreage to be sold, leased, or developed in partnership with the city under the master plan.

The best case for some construction activity might be 2008, said Toppenberg. But that's optimistic.

"It's hard to have a timeline without having a design," he said.

25 homes to an acre? Developer touts amenities

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor



West Sacramento's second example of "urban infill" housing is open for business, near the pioneering Metro Place subdivision in the city's northeast. Developer John Leonard hosted an open house at his "River's Side at Washington Square" property over the weekend.

The project puts 25 three-story townhouses plus a commercial space with four over-head apartments on only an acre, near the I Street Bridge.

The homes, averaging around 1,600 square feet in three floor plans, will sell for $409,500 to $429,500

School board ponders where to put 7th, 8th grades

■ Fate of Golden State Middle School & size of elementary school campuses are on the table; teacher layoffs also look likely for 2007

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's school board plans to vote tomorrow on some kind of plan involving the addition of seventh and eighth grade levels to current "kindergarten through sixth" grade elementary schools. The plan could enlarge these campuses to bigger K-8 campuses while shrinking or eliminating the district's only middle school, Golden State Middle School in the north area.

At the Thursday board meeting, the district's five board members expect to hear the final recommendation on the "K-8" plan from Superintendent Steven Lawrence. What will that recommendation be?

"I haven't finalized it," said Lawrence yesterday. "All of the principals have just had meetings with parents and staff. I'm waiting for the feedback from the principals on the feelings of their teachers and staff communities, and the parents' communities. I had five public forums (on this topic) before the last board meeting, at Elkhorn Elementary, district offices, Bridgeway Island, Westfield, and Alyce Norman (schools). Since the last board meeting, every site has held a meeting where parents could ask questions and we again surveyed the parents. All of that will be presented at the board meeting."

The board's last discussion of the K-8 proposal drew heated participation from parents – some of whom had been lobbying for the new school structure for years, and others who opposed enlarging the district's elementary schools.

Tomorrow's meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the middle school cafeteria at 1100 Carrie Street.

Also on the agenda is notice that up to 60 teachers could face layoffs next year. The district is required to provide notice for each position that is considered for a cut. The actual number of layoffs depends on a lot of factors not yet determined, said Lawrence.

"We have to lay off teachers," he told the News-Ledger. "Both the middle school and high school are going to be moving off the seven-period day where teachers have two prep periods, to a six-period day. There will need to be one-seventh less teachers."

He is waiting to find out how to best manage the cuts to preserve federal funding for some jobs, and waiting for other information such as how many teachers will be voluntarily retiring after this year, he said.

Target store celebrates opening

West Sacramento was scheduled to welcome a new major retailer yesterday.

A "ribbon cutting" for the new Target store near Nugget supermarket, in the Southport Town Center, was scheduled for about 5 p.m. on Tuesday. The event was to be followed with a reception and tours of the new store.

The Target store is located near Linden Road, east of Jefferson Boulevard.

It is managed by West Sacramento resident Bubi Gorgevich.

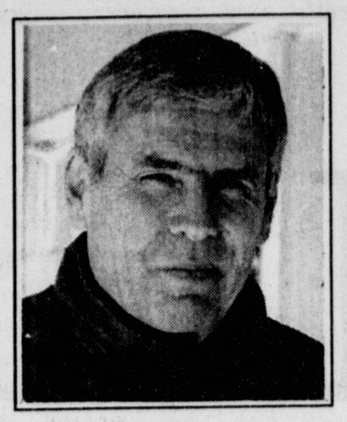
West Sac named a 'Tree City USA'

West Sacramento has been named a "Tree City USA" for the first time by the National Arbor Day Foundation.

Four requirements were necessary to earn this status, said the foundation. The city must have a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, a comprehensive community forestry program and an Arbor Day observance.

"Trees in our cities and towns help clean the air, conserve soil and water, moderate temperature and bring nature into our lives," said foundation president John Rosenow in a press release. "Tree City USA designation recognizes the work of elected officials, staff and citizens who plant and care for the community forest."

Some new home remedies, to go with old ones



More than a decade ago, I wrote a column about my beloved grandmother's use of old home remedies while raising her three children in Southern Missouri during the Great Depression, when going to a real doctor was much too expensive for many families living in rural America.

For instance, if you had a sore throat, Granny would heat up some turpentine and Vicks and generously apply it all over your neck. Then she would tightly wrap a thick, fatty slice of bacon around that smelly concoction, followed by a wide strip of heavy flannel to keep everything snugly in place.

If you had a bad cough, Granny would mix some sugar in a teaspoon of water and then very carefully add three drops of kerosine. This deadly mixture had to be gulped down while you held your breath because the fumes could actually choke you if you weren't careful.

Another of Granny's favorites was the infamous mustard plaster, which she unfortunately taught to my mother, who in turn then used it on me when I had a chest cold. A bunch of dry mustard was mixed with some warm water and the resulting goop was then liberally spread out all over my young chest and covered with a heating pad. Within minutes, my whole torso felt like you could roast marshmallows over it.

Granny also firmly believed that if you just didn't feel up to par, but couldn't exactly put your finger on the reason why, then you needed a laxative, which meant a big glass full of liquid Epsom salts, which definitely cleaned out your entire system in one big hurry. Oh, how I hated taking a "dose of salts!"

Anyway, having somehow survived most of the nasty concoctions my grandmother passed along to my mother, I thought I was pretty familiar with most all of the medical home remedies known to man. Wrong! And here are a whole bunch more which were recently emailed to me by a friend who knows of my interest in such things:

Got achy muscles? Mix 1 tablespoon of horseradish in 1 cup of olive oil. Let the mixture sit for 30 minutes, then apply it as a massage oil, for instant relief for aching muscles.

Sore throat? Just mix 1/4 cup of vinegar with 1/4 cup of honey and take 1 tablespoon six times a day. The vinegar is supposed to kill the bacteria.

Urinary tract infection? Dissolve two tablets of Alka-Seltzer in a glass of water and drink it at the onset of the symptoms.

Skin blemishes? Cover the blemish with a dab of honey and place a Band-Aid over it. Honey kills the bacteria, keeps the skin sterile, and speeds healing. It's said to work overnight.

Toenail fungus? You apparently can get rid of unsightly toenail fungus by soaking your toes in Listerine mouthwash. The powerful antiseptic is supposed to leave your toenails looking as good as new.

Need some bug killer ASAP? Cleaning fluid can double as a bug killer. If menacing bees, wasps, hornets, or yellow jackets get in your home and you can't find the insecticide, try spraying them with Formula 409. Insects reportedly drop to the ground instantly once they are hit.

Got a small splinter in your finger? Just poor a drop of Elmer's Glue-All over the splinter, let it dry, and then peel the dried glue off the skin. The splinter sticks to the dried glue and comes right out.

Got a boil? Cover it with Hunt's tomato paste (I guess other brands would work just as well) as a compress. The acids from the tomatoes soothe the pain and bring the boil to a head.

To help heal bruises, soak a cotton ball in white vinegar and apply it to the bruise for approximately one hour. The vinegar reduces the blueness and speeds up the healing process.

If you want to kill fleas instantly, Dawn dish washing liquid is supposed to do the trick. Add a few drops to your dog's bath and shampoo the animal thoroughly. Rinse well to avoid skin irritations. Good-bye fleas.

Arthritis pain? Mix 2 cups of Quaker Oats and 1 cup of water in a bowl and heat it in the microwaves for 1 minute, then cool slightly and apply the mixture to your hands for soothing relief.

Got a bad headache? Try drinking two glasses of Gatorade and don't be surprised if the pain quickly goes away, and without any of the unpleasant side effects caused by traditional pain relievers.

And finally (this one I think I will actually give a try), the next time your dog comes in from the rain smelling like only a wet dog can, simply wipe the animal down with Bounce, or any other electric dryer sheet, and it will instantly make your dog smell springtime fresh!

'Friend' of the year

By Phyllis Runyan, West Sac. Friends of the Library

At the recent 46th Annual Dinner of the Friends of the Library, Mary L. Stephens was named Friend of the Year.

Stephens has been much honored for her 37 years of outstanding service as Yolo County Librarian, but the Friends of the Library know her as a "special friend". She came to many meetings, listened to concerns, solved problems, and worked hard to improve our facility in West Sacramento.

Book-lovers and library users have been fortunate to be watched over by someone so committed to excellence and accessibility in the library.

Also at the dinner meeting, a slate of officers for the upcoming year was unanimously elected. Serving again will be Mark Johannessen, president; Kristie Holton, vice-president; Su Sesso, secretary; and Larry Wyneken, treasure.

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The Sacramento Kings' 2007 playoffs hopes suffered a major setback on Monday morning after Kings star forward, Ron Artest, was arrest for suspected domestic violence charge against his wife Kimsha Artest.

Artest, who came over to the Kings for Peja Stojakovic, has a few documented problems with the law including a 73-game suspension for fighting with fans in the infamous brawl in Detroit. The suspension was the harshest penalty in NBA history for an on-court incident.

Also, in January Artest was in the news when Placer County officials had to rescue one of his starving dogs for alleged animal abuse. The feeding problem was resolved – no big problem.

In 2002 Artest was ordered to undergo anger management counseling resulting from a problem with a girlfriend. Charges were dropped but in 2003 the NBA fined him $35K for destroying a TV camera during a game in N.Y. Artest has also been fined twice by the league for making obscene gestures at fans when he used the wrong finger to point out the exits to some hecklers. Also in November of 2006 Mrs. Artest called 911 to report that her husband had vandalized their home.

Artest, who was released on $50,000 bail, will continue to receive his $7.15 million salary for this year and is under contract for the 2008/09 season that would pay him $8.45 million. The Kings have excused Artest indefinitely from team practice and games until further notice.

Ron-Ron, who will probably return for the Kings playoff push, has missed a couple of games in the past two weeks. He called in sick (personal problem) on Feb. 25th against Indiana and sat out a game last week with an allegedly sore knee. The Kings are 4-4 this season without the services of Ron Artest.

It seems Artest is under the same dark cloud that follows Cowboys receiver Terrell Owens around year after year! It's unbelievable that these two great athletes always seem too attract tabloid drama and some serious negative vibes.

Kings Korner

The good news for the playoff bound Kings is that their newest star, Kevin Martin, became the first player in two years to be named Western Conference Player of the Week. Martin averaged 28 points, 5 rebounds and 3.5 assists in helping the Kings go 3-1 last week. Mike Bibby was the last player to win the honor in the 2004-05 season.

Martin, who leads the Kings in scoring (21.3) should have been selected to the All-Star game because his 10.5 points per game improvement over last year is tops in the NBA this season. K-Mart has been on fire and so have the Kings who still have a legitimate shot at make the playoffs this season with or without Artest.

The Kings finally climbed out of last place in the West after 53 consecutive days in the cellar with their recent surge in wins combined with the Golden State Warriors misfortunes. The Kings have put together 5 out 6 wins while the Warriors managed to lose five in row.

The Kings trail the Hornets and Clippers in the race for the eight spot but are now only 2 games back of the 7th place Denver Nuggets. The Kings schedule could present a huge problem with home games on Tuesday (Pacers) followed by a TNT (7:30 p.m.) game with the San Antonio Spurs on Thursday night.

The Kings will then enjoy a couple of games off before they host the Denver Nuggets (12:30 p.m.-ch.10) on Sunday but the big test will be a wild east coast trip for two back-to-back games in Cleveland and Charlotte and then two more in Miami and Orlando. Ouch!

NFL News

The 49ers, which have $40 million dollars of salary cap room, are on a spending spree. The 49ers signed the top defensive back on the market in Nate Clements and also plugged up the middle of their defensive line with 320-pound Aubrayo Franklin and then went out and snagged wide receiver Ashley Lelie off the free agency market. The good news is the Niners still have plenty of moola left to spend and 10 draft picks in the first four rounds.

The Oakland Raiders are strapped for cash so don't expect any shopping for the Silver and Black attack. The shopping the Raiders are doing is offering Randy Moss around to anybody interested. Rumor has the Packers and Patriots talking trade will Al Davis but for now Oakland will concentrating on the draft which only 53 days away!

March Madness

The NCAA Tournament selection committee will meet on Sunday to decide which teams will be attending the big Dance on March 31st and April 2nd in the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. Sacramento will host the first round of the tournament on Thursday, March 15th and Saturday, March 17th at the Arco Arena. The biggest challenge will be the seeding especially with top ranked Ohio State followed by No. 2 Kansas, No. 3 Wisconsin followed by No. 4 UCLA.

Enjoy your day – see ya next week!

Two wins for RCHS tennis

From River City H.S.

The River City High School tennis team earned a pair of road victories to open up the 2007 season. Against Bear River, the Raiders swept the first five doubles matches in route to a 6-3 win over the host Bruins.

In mixed doubles, Doug Tipton and Julie Saeteurn cruised to a 10-3 win. Adrian Araza and Kehoua Saechao pulled away from their opponents late for a 10-7 victory in the #1 doubles position and teammates Brandon Yip and Josel Tanjutco won 10-4 at #2 doubles. Sandy Phouanglasy and Yian Saetern combined for a 10-5 triumph in the #1 girls doubles match while at #2, Tamara Lopatin and Svetlana Istomin overcame a slow start to earn a 10-7 victory in Istomin's first-ever varsity match. Anna Bouttavong took the Raiders' lone singles contest of the afternoon, 10-3 in the #2 girls spot.

Despite missing several regular starters at Lincoln last Friday, R.C. still managed to shut out the Zebras 9-0. The visitors received a marathon win from Chris Salazar at #1 boys singles, and Cindy Yang took two tough sets in the #1 girls singles match. Tipton and Bouttavong won the #2 singles matches and the Raiders again swept the five doubles contests.

Araza and Saechao had another 10-7 win at #1 boys, Tanjutco paired with Gary Yang for a 10-1 win at #2 boys, and in mixed, Bjay Patel and Sarah Aguilar blanked their opponents in Aguilar's varsity debut. In girls doubles, Lopatin and Istomin dropped just one game at #1 and Phouanglasy and Kathleen Limon earned a 10-0 "bagel."

In a busy week ahead, River City opens up Capital Valley Conference (CVC) play against Sacramento Country Day tomorrow at the Rio Del Oro Racquet Club and then travels to Patterson on Friday. Next Monday and Tuesday, the Raiders host Bret Harte and Rio Linda. Matches begin at 4 p.m.

INFILL: restaurant on the way apiece, said Leonard.

How is the market responding to this offer?

"We believe the market has been 'soft' but is coming back," he told the News-Ledger. "We had over 400 people visit us over the weekend. That's a sign to me that people are looking again."

As part of a development agreement with the city's redevelopment agency, the units will be sold only to homeowners – and not to outside investors.

"I expect we'll see a lot of people moving up from midtown. We have had a bunch of people looking at this as an alternative to renting in Sacramento. We have the move-up buyer, the professional and also the longer empty-nester – for whom having three floors is not a challenge. They like having the bright interiors and the lifestyle of not having a yard, but having high ceilings, a fireplace, and a balcony. They don't need 2,800 square feet on a 5,000 lot."

Leonard touts the project's proximity to workplaces in Sacramento and to a future on-site restaurant at the West Sacramento project, as well as the amenities in the homes.

"There are jazzy features available like a video intercom and doorbell, solid-core doors, pre-plumbing for a central vacuum, and other features people don't expect in this price range. Features like granite countertops – they want it, but they expect it to cost extra," he said.

The units also feature 2X6 construction in their exterior walls, for extra room for R-30 insulation, and insulation to help soundproof interior walls as well.

Leonard said the project's design and amenities have earned it two prestigious awards, including a "people's choice" award from the Association of Commercial Real Estate, covering a five-county area, and a "best emerging infill" award from the Business Journal.

The commercial space is not leased yet, said Leonard, but he believes he is "close" to having a deal with a restaurant that will serve breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The project's architect is Mogavero Notestine Associates.

Leonard is also in negotiations to buy the old firehouse on Third Street, just south of River's Side, from the city redevelopment agency. He envisions a restaurant on that site as well – after a thorough and expensive gutting process.

The city wants the new use to maintain the "streamline moderne" architectural look of the 1940s-era firehouse, Leonard said.

COUNTING THE HOMELESS: summit planned this Thursday

Yolo County activists conducted a "snapshot" survey of homeless people in the county on January 30.

The survey showed a total of about 336 homeless adults located in the county, as well as 78 children. Among the adults, homeless men outnumbered women by over two to one.

West Sacramento was found to be home to 138 of those homeless people on that day. Woodland had 18, Davis had 86, and nine were located in rural areas.

Statistics were unclear, reported a county spokesperson, but "it does appear that the numbers are down (from 2005) in Davis and Woodland and remain about the same in West Sacramento."

Among the contributing factors that may have reduced the number of homeless people found in the survey, said Yolo County information officer Beth Gabor, were revised guidelines defining who is "homeless" and very cold weather which may have pushed more homeless people to seek emergency shelter with acquaintances. Community programs also may have helped some homeless people "transition" to permanent housing, she said.

The survey was done by volunteers, including homeless people and former homeless people, and by agencies working with the Yolo County Homeless & Poverty Action Coalition (HPAC).

Tomorrow, HPAC will hold a final "continuum of care" planning session from 6-8 p.m. at the Woodland Police Department's community room to talk about meeting the needs of the area's homeless people. Information from a series of these meetings will go to a "Homeless Summit," scheduled for 1-4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 14, at West Sacramento City Hall, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. In favor of K-8 schools

The purpose of K-8 education is to provide the students of WUSD and the children of West Sacramento greater opportunities and choices for getting an education. This is the reason I took up this cause in 1998 and have continued with it since.

As our school board weighs the pros and cons of all proposals certain things must be insured. The rest of it is details for them to decide.

Golden State Middle School must remain open. There are students that need the middle school experience, there are students that want the programs that are offered only at GSMS and we need to provide for those students who will excel there.

We must have at least two K-8 schools in the district. If we only have one such school we have the problems of overcrowding, the feeling of favoritism, and we will still not stop the exodus of students from our district.

There are options to consider which will make much of this more viable. GSMS used to be a 6-8 school and there is no reason why it can't be returned to that configuration. This will keep it viable with numbers and will allow students to actually spend three years getting AVID, honors, and shop classes.

K-8 schools can be built economically in the range of 540 to 600 students. This is the size of many of our elementary schools and this will simply reduce the students-per-grade-level to around 60, instead of 100.

Each elementary school and each K-8 can have certain magnet programs such as technology, performing arts, science or the basics.

By implementing these changes here are a few of the benefits: Student dropout rats will decline. Kids having problems in the 6th through 8th grades will have school options like all other kids in the district have now, which is not true for GSMS currently. WUSD can become a premier school district by keeping the committed and involved parents and students in the district, because we have met the needs and desires of them and not just said one size fits all.

I urge people and the school board to consider all the children of West Sacramento and all the students in WUSD.

Thank you, City!

I would like to publicly thank the City of West Sacramento for the excellent job they did in replacing a section of sidewalk in front of my home on Lakewood Drive. They had said that it was the homeowner's responsibility and sent me a form that asked me to choose from a couple of ways to do the repairs. Each way required me essentially to pay for the work. I requested an onsite meeting with an arborist as a 150 year old oak tree was involved and the sidewalk was definitely within the 50-feet wide street and was the city's responsibility.

Jossett Reina, administrative analyst for the public works department called an onsite meeting that included arborists and measurements that established the repairs were within the 50-foot street width and that the city would do the repairs.

The FBI last Wednesday announced that a partnership with local law enforcement agencies led to "compliance checks" on over 60 people in Yolo County currently on probation or parole. Five people were arrested for violations. Several had outstanding warrants, and at least one was arrested on narcotics charges, said an FBI press release.

Yolo County District Attorney's office, West Sacramento Police Department, Sacramento County Auto Theft Suppression team and various Yolo police agencies participated.

No details were given about the specific locations of the sweeps.

"If you have a bit of news,

A story that is true,
An incident that's new,
We want to hear from you!

Will your story make us laugh?
Send it in.
Send along a photograph,

Never mind about your style,
If it's only worth the while,
And will make the reader smile,

The Sacramento River registered 12 feet, U. S. gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge, yesterday.

Word has been received from Rudolph Binse from some point in France where he is already located. Only a brief sketch was given by him of his whereabouts. Some time ago a story was published in one of the Woodland papers conveying the information that the mistreatment of United States soldiers by Germans had gone beyond all limits of inhumanity. The Independent was not able to verify this story until yesterday and now prints it as it was published:

"'With my own eyes I saw six American soldiers who had come back from France with their eyes gouged out by the Germans. The boys told me their eyes had been gouged out and I could see that this was the case.'

"Such is the statement of Rudolph Binse, a Washington boy in a New Jersey cantonment. He wrote the letter to Jacob Butschli, of Washington, and the letter was received Tuesday.

"There were a number of boys returned from France for different reasons, he said, and when they reached the New Jersey camp six of them were found to have been disfigured by the Germans, who had captured them following a raid."

John Borzone did his best yesterday to join Uncle Sam's Navy, but was turned down because he was about two inches short of the required height. Johnnie was very anxious to get a whack at the Kaiser and advanced in his favor the fact that he is one of the best shots in this neck of the woods. Every winters he spends considerable time shooting ducks and geese and sometimes wanders into the hills in search of deer which he never fails to bag and which he divides with his friends. Yesterday he was feeling blue over what he considers his misfortune.

Clarence Harms left here last Wednesday for San Francisco whence he will proceed to San Diego to become a member of Uncle Sam's Navy. He enlisted as a machinist with which work he is familiar. Before leaving Clarence left things in shape for his mother who is advancing in years and who really needed his help although he left her in very comfortable circumstances. He is the fifty-ninth young man in this district of Yolo County to go to the front.

George A. Newton, Bryan D'Anis and Merle Richeson have been called to report at Washington, D. C., on June 5th leaving here on June 1st to take their places in the railroad engineering corps in France. All three volunteered about ten days ago and received their notifications last Monday. All three of these boys have had experience with the Southern Pacific Company and as men of their training are much needed in France quick advancement may be expected by them. Only four men of this class have been taken out of the entire county. Their leaving will give credit to Washington district in the number of sixty-two young men who have joined the forces of the Nation.

A serious accident happened to M. E. Middleton, owner of the Sacramento Boat Building Co., in his machine shop south of the electric bridge yesterday. While testing an engine a plug blew out of a cylinder striking him on the head and knocking him into the river. He was saved from drowning by Grant Churchill and was rushed to the receiving hospital in Sacramento where it was found that his skull was fractured. After receiving first aid attention he was taken to the Sisters' Hospital for treatment. Middleton was a resident of Sacramento living at 1123 E street.

Ladies of the Washington Red Cross made a splendid showing in the parade in Sacramento last Saturday. They being the only contingent which saluted the colors as they passed. This was taken up by the crowd on the sidewalks and loudly applauded. Returning from the parade they drove around town in seven automobiles encouraging donations to the Red Cross. They also visited Riverbank and created a good deal of enthusiasm there.

Mrs. C. Richeson and daughter. Audrey, have gone to Hornbrook to spend a couple of weeks visiting with Mrs. Mabel Fuller (Richeson).

Mrs. F. L. White went to Berkeley on May 15th to be present at the graduation of her daughter, Essie, at the University. Miss White is now taking her preliminary exercises in teaching after which both will return to Washington.

Several ladies around town yesterday were seriously talking of starting an auxiliary to the Liberty League because on last Wednesday evening the league voted to shut out women from its councils.

All the ladies of the Washington Red Cross assembled in uniform this afternoon at the public school building to have their picture taken in a group.

Bert Berry came down from Oregon last Monday after spending six weeks at the town of Rex near Portland. He will return in a few days to his work there. Berry is more or less disgusted with the duplicity of the Prohibition laws of Oregon. He says that in some places a man can be arrested and placed in jail if his breath smells badly even though he has not drank any whiskey while in other places booze is almost as common as water. Portland, he says, is only dry in name for he saw several men trying their darndest to appear sober when they knew they were drunk. Berry expects to return to Rex in a few days and take a supply with him under some kind of camouflage.

Supervisor Leinberger has been attending the convention of Supervisors in Los Angeles during the past week. He is expected home today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Glassford left here last Monday to spend several months in New York.

The flag dedication service held by the volunteer firemen of Washington in the Town Hall last Saturday night was one of the most largely attended gatherings ever held in the building. A splendid program of entertainment was rendered, every number being full of snap and spirit. Following the entertainment a popular dance was enjoyed by those who wanted to indulge.

Harry Stuben went to Oakland last Monday for a brief visit with friends.

Mrs. R. Derr is still confined to the Sisters' Hospital in Sacramento but is expected home next Sunday or early next week.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL ENDEAVOR TO DISPERSE GYPSIES FROM LAND NEAR BRIDGE

COMPLAINT MADE ABOUT MULTITUDE OF DOGS THAT MAKE NIGHT HIDEOUS FOR TIRED WORKERS AND HOUSEHOLDERS

The Washington Improvement Club resolved last Tuesday evening that it would endeavor in every way possible to disperse the conglomerated camp of gypsies and itinerants who are now camped near the end of the electric bridge and who are anything but an ornament to the locality.

J. H. Glide, manager of the West Sacramento Company, as published in last week's Independent, does not want this camp maintained and has give orders to clear it.

A few days ago not less than twenty-eight people were camped on this piece of land which is owned by the West Sacramento Company. In this location there is neither lavatories or running water, except that in the river and there is no means of garbage disposal except that which nature provided.

As the summer approaches a stench will rise from this location to high heaven and property owners will begin to complain about unhealthy conditions.

Contagion may result or even an epidemic may come about through this means.

Some of these campers have been located there for several months. They have pitched their tents and are apparently satisfied to stay. By odd jobs they make a precarious living, sometimes getting enough to eat legitimately and sometimes illegitimately.

The Improvement Club has directed its secretary to ask the Health Officer of the district, Henry Leinberger, Jr., to take what steps he may towards relieving the sanitation and if he cannot enforce the necessary order, the county authorities will be asked to do their share.

There is not any objection particularly to a family camping over night on this ground but there is serious objection to their staying for months at a time and scatering filth and garbage in open places exposed to the heat of the sun. The land is not used at the present moment nor is it under cultivation and that is mostly the reason that these people stay.

Since a stringent dog ordinance was enacted in Sacramento stray mongrels have found refuge at this side of the bridge and have been more or less adopted by many families who take compassion on their wretchedness.

But unfortunately these mongrels make the night hideous with their over-watchfulness in payment for favors.

The complaint of the Improvement Club is that tired men are kept awake after a late hour and are again aroused from their slumbers long before daylight.

Incensed at these mongrels, some parties have been scattering poison and as a result valuable animals have been found dead.

A litle thought is asked by the Improvement Club to rid the town of these outcasts, and if not accomplished, a tax of $2.50 per head will be asked of the Supervisors on every dog in town.

STARKEY'S DEATH IS MOURNED BY MANY FRIENDS

A resident of Washington during the past 18 years and a loyal citizen of the community, Alexander W. Starkey died at his home on Second street last Sunday evening at 8:15 p. m.

Al. Starkey, as he was familiarly known, was a great favorite in his neighborhood, particularly with the children, who knew him and loved him for his good heart and his kindness to them. He loved all children by nature and always had a kindly word for them.

Twenty-five years ago he was married to Mrs. Mary Hunt and to them was born one child, now Mrs. A. C. Painter. Passionately fond of his grandchild, Miss Joy Painter, he was her constant companion and loved to pass time with her in his leisure hours.

Born in Pike County, Illinois, he came to California 42 years ago and after quitting school went to railroading which he followed during the remainder of his life.

Starkey's death was caused when he was only 51 years of age by what is known as Addison's disease, an affection of the kidneys.

He was a trusted employe of the Southern Pacific Company during the past 22 years.

Since last November his health failed him and for relief he visited all the prominent doctors of Sacramento and San Francisco.

His death bed was surrounded by the members of his family and was painless to all appearances.

The funeral took place last Wednesday in Sacramento where services were held at the undertaking parlors and where the members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen deposited a token of respect and esteem on his casket.

The remains were cremated at East Lawn Crematory.

A wealth of floral tributes accompanied his casket to the cemetery.

Many relatives from outside points attended his funeral among whom were Mrs. J. J. Henderson of San Francisco, Mrs. R. E. Hurt of San Jose, and Mrs. Leslie Hight of Mav-

WASHINGTON CLAIMS CREDIT FOR FOURNESS BOYS' PATRIOTISM

Some of the Sacramento papers took a great deal of credit for the patriotism of the three Fourness boys who are now at the front serving Uncle Sam.

Alexander, Girard and Frank Fourness were born in Washington, and were raised here as children, until the death of their mother, which occurred about fifteen years ago.

They are nephews of Eli Fourness and also of Mrs. J. D. Barry.

Washington is just as proud of the Fourness boys as is Sacramento but nevertheless the Sacramento papers gave no credit to Washington for their patriotism.

Washington has a great deal to be proud of in the sixty-two young men who are now serving at the front or are in training in preparation to go there.

RED CROSS DRIVE OVER THE TOP LAST NIGHT

Washington's quota of the Red Cross drive went over the top last night when considerably more than $1480 was subscribed.

Seven active committees have been steadfastly engaged in securing pledges and collecting funds during the past three days, topping the total last night with more than the requisite amount.

Each of the committees consisted of two members who lost no time and would not take "no" for an answer. It is safe to say that nearly every resident of the town gave his share and on many occasions more than his share.

Washington's fund for the Red Cross does not go to the credit of Yolo County because this Chapter is affiliated with the Sacramento headquarters.

LOCAL SCHOOL WILL CLOSE THIS TERM ON JUNE 21ST

Preparations are being made by Principal A. L. Case and the school trustees to close this term on June 21st.

Next week final examinations will be held, after which the children will be drilled for graduation exercises. The closing of the school this early will permit any of the children to go to work on the farms around town and it is mostly on that account that the early closing is made.

Numbers of fruit growers are anxious to have the help of the children and will take care of them while in their employ.

The teachers for the next term have not yet been appointed, but in all probability those now holding places will continue at the opening of the next term. They are Principle A. L. Case, Miss V. White, Miss J. McWilliams, Miss W. Duncan and Miss M. V. Duff.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

The view from the race course

Sometimes the best way to really see something that you're around every day is to do it with a fresh pair of eyes. To get a good look at your hometown – the parts you are so familiar with that you pass through with your eyes half-closed – you might try tagging along with a friend who is getting a first look at the sights. Your friend may see things in a different light, and may notice things in the landscape that you have long ago just absrobed and ignored. Did you ever really notice that 30-year old store sign, or that cute little house just off the street? Did you realize that magnificent old oak was on that corner? Or did you ever really look at how run-down this block is?

Another way to take a fresh look at a place like West Sacramento is just to pretend to see it through the eyes of a visitor. Try to see what they would see. Pretend, for a moment, you were among the organizers of the "Amgen Tour of California" bike race that sped through West Sacramento Feb. 20 (it wouldn't help to put yourself in the place of the racers themselves; they were too busy to notice the scenery beyond the curb).

The tour officials and support people, like the cyclists, came through West Sacramento from north to Harbor Boulevard. They connected to Sacramento Avenue, Jefferson Boulevard, and then West Capitol to the Tower Bridge.

What did your city look like to them?

Along that route, it probably looked like a rather uninspired stretch of patchy, older suburban commercial development, albeit a stretch that ended with the visual interest of the "ziggurat" (State Department of General Services building), Raley Field and Tower Bridge.

West Sacramento offers many vistas. The one seen by Tour personnel and visitors during the race was not one of the city's more inspired.

Some of that cityscape, though, is slated for major change. The West Capitol area, for example, is being re-planned to make for a narrower, taller and more "downtown" flavor. The change will come slowly and gradually,dependent largely on market conditions that no one can accurately predict.

Perhaps next time the bike race whizzes through town, the racers and their entourage see something different. Something more exciting.

The bike race could be back soon, though.

Sacramento officials liked hosting the Stage II finish so much that they are discussing how to make sure the tour (which alters its course through the state each year) visits the city again in 2008. This doesn't mean that West Sacramento will again come along for the ride: the tour could enter Sacramento from the foothills or another direction.

But West Sacramento is the natural gateway to the capital from the west, and if the tour remains successful, this city will not doubt play host to part of the race course fairly frequently.

Should West Sacramento pursue the chance to host part of the race course again? Is the spectator opportunity and exposure worth the costs of traffic control and road closure? How often is "enough"?

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

DINING, TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

"Ghost Rider"

Running time: 114 minutes
MPAA rating: PG-13

I would have probably given "Ghost Rider" a higher grade if it had been a low-budget affair with cheesy effects, over-the-top acting and an oh-so-bad-it's-good vibe to it. But the studio spent $120 million on this production, and I'll be damned if I can tell where the money was spent. It certainly wasn't on special effects. The CGI quality was about the same level as you'd expect from the Sci-Fi Channel.

The acting is no great shakes, either. You'd think that playing a guy who turns into a flaming skeleton bounty hunter for Satan would be a lot of fun, but Nicholas Cage appears to be sleepwalking throughout this movie. Co-star Eva Mendes is laughable as the journalist/love interest. Watching her struggle to form words of more than two syllables is painfully funny at times, and you have to wonder why this woman has a career at all.

The only high points to "Ghost Rider" are the cameos by Peter Fonda (as the devil) and Sam Elliot as The Caretaker. Both are such commanding presences that you wish the studio had set this film in the Old West instead of modern times.

The plot of the film is idiotic: As a young man, stunt motorcyclist Johnny Blaze (Cage) makes a pact with the devil in order to cure his father of cancer. In return, Blaze must become the devil's bounty hunter, collecting evil souls and sending them to Hell.

The Devil's son (Wes Bentley) decides he wants to overthrow Dad, so he searches for a contract that will give him Awesome Powers — enough to create Hell on Earth ... or something like that. So, Satan sends the Ghost Rider to destroy his naughty son.

Oooookay.

So, the Devil isn't powerful enough to put the smackdown on his own kid? Does this mean the Ghost Rider is more powerful than Satan? And if so, why doesn't he destroy Satan, too?

I know. I know. Logic and comic book movies don't gel together, but come on.

Don't bother seeing this movie at the theater. At best, it's a rental.

Bogie: A Celebration of the Life and Films of Humphrey Bogart
by Richard Schickel, with Stephen Bogart and George Perry
(Thomas Dunne Books, $35)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

Humphrey Bogart was one of Hollywood's most glamorous leading men. Even a half-century after his death, he still remains one of the most recognizable stars of classic film and still holds the No. 1 spot on the American Film Institute's list of male screen legends.

Bogart was born in New York City in 1899. He made his acting debut on Broadway in 1922, and appeared in his first feature film eight years later. Alternating between stage and screen, he appeared in dozens of roles during his early career, usually cast as a vicious hoodlum.

In 1935, he co-starred in Robert Sherwood's gritty play "Petrified Forest" at the Broadhurst Theater. His portrayal of gangster Duke Mantee electrified audiences, and helped establish him as one of America's most talented actors. He repeated that seminal role in the 1936 film version featuring Bette Davis and Leslie Howard.

After "Petrified Forest," Bogart established his true screen presence in such classics as "Casablanca," "The Maltese Falcon," "High Sierra" and "The African Queen," for which he won an Oscar in 1951.

While his on-screen magnetism was unmatched, his private life was also the stuff of legend. He married Lauren Bacall in 1945, following her screen debut in "To Have and Have Not." It co-starred Bogart and was one of the biggest film hits of 1944.

"Bogie," a splashy new coffee table-sized book, is a fitting tribute to one of cinema's most enduring icons. The crisply written text is supplemented with more than 200 photos, many unpublished and chosen from the private Bogart archives. A short introduction by his son, Stephen Bogart, adds just the right touch.

Irish Soda Bread

A rich and tender rustic Irish quick bread — the ideal dinner companion for corned beef.

COOK: 1 hour
TOTAL: 1 1/2 hours
YIELDS: 1 loaf or 12 servings

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 4 cups plus 1/2 teaspoon all-purpose flour
- 6 tablespoons cold margarine or butter
- 1 cup golden or dark seedless raisins
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk

1. Preheat oven to 350 F. Grease large cookie sheet.

2. In large bowl, combine sugar, baking powder, salt, baking soda and 4 cups flour. With pastry blender or 2 knives used scissor-fashion, cut in margarine or butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. With spoon, stir in raisins, then buttermilk just until evenly moistened.

3. With floured hand, gently knead dough in bowl a few times until dough forms a ball (do not overmix, or bread will be tough). Place dough on cookie sheet; shape into a 7-inch round loaf (dough will not be smooth).

4. Sprinkle loaf with remaining 1/2 teaspoon flour. With sharp knife, cut 4-inch-long cross, about 1/4-inch deep, on top of loaf. Bake loaf 1 hour or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack.

Pauley Perrette

Q. I saw the movie "Shane" last night with Alan Ladd. I heard two rumors: one that he died from a heart attack, and the other that he committed suicide. Do you know how he died? — Carol B., via e-mail

A. Ladd, who was best known for his role as a gunfighter in the classic 1953 Western, died of an acute overdose of alcohol and sedatives in 1964 at the age of 50. It would seem that a string of so-so films and a love of the bottle took its toll, although his death was ruled accidental. One of his sons, David Ladd, was married to "Charlie's Angels" star Cheryl Ladd, and his granddaughter, actress Jordan Ladd, has co-starred in the films "Waiting," "Never Been Kissed" and this summer's "Hostel: Part II."

Q. On the show "Navy NCIS," are Abby Sciuto's tattoos real or are they just makeup? — Roy and Carolyn J., via e-mail

A. Pauley Perrette, who plays forensic scientist Abby Sciuto on the CBS hit show, has nine tattoos of her own, but is coy about revealing which tats are hers and which are her character's. She does admit that the large spider web on her neck is a fake one. Also, her hair is naturally blonde and curly; she has it dyed jet black and straightened for the role.

Fave Foods OF THE FAMOUS

by Steven Austin

Patrick Warburton

In the television classic "Seinfeld," Patrick Warburton firmly established his place in TV history playing the role of Elaine's on-and-off boyfriend, Puddy. You've also seen him star in "Dave's World," "8 Simple Rules ... for Dating My Teenage Daughter," "Grace Under Fire" and other TV hits. His big-screen appearances include movies like "Joe Somebody" and "Men in Black II."

Warburton stars as Jeff in the new CBS-TV sitcom "Rules of Engagement" on Monday nights. The show is about the different stages of male/female relationships, as seen through the eyes of an engaged couple. Co-stars include Oliver Hudson, Bianca Kajlich, Megyn Price and David Spade.

In real life, Warburton is married with four children and lives in California. He enjoys a variety of family activities, as well as camping, golf and tennis. For more info: www.cbs.com

What foods do you find "engaging"?

"Carbs are engaging, especially when you can't have them. Cheesecake, caramel ice cream, pecan pie ... all the decadent stuff. Sushi, on the other hand, can be the 'good' kind of engaging."

On "Seinfeld" you were always breaking up with Elaine. Have you ever broken up a relationship during a meal?

"I've never broken up during a meal. How do you eat and break up at the same time? What a way to ruin a good fish taco!"

Who is the cook when you're at your cabin, and what's usually on the menu?

"I grill at our cabin almost every night. The steaks we buy, or the salmon we catch or our neighbors catch and give to us. Hey, a little shout out to the Graves and the Marstalls."

Readers always like to hear about scenes in shows involving eating.

"On 'Rules of Engagement' we have a diner scene or two every week, so I've had to learn to eat and talk, but not like at home. For the show I have to try and keep the food in my mouth."

You have four children. What foods/drinks have they introduced you to?

"My son, Talon, who is quite a chef, has introduced us to caramelized baked pears. Lexie makes a mean cinnamon streusel muffin. And Shane makes a lovely fresh-squeezed lemonade."

TALON'S FAMOUS ROASTED PEAR HALVES IN CREAM SAUCE

- 6–7 semi-firm pears
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons butter

Preheat oven to 375 F.

Peel pears, then cut vertically in half. Remove stem and seeds. Spread pear halves in an oven-safe pan. Add small dabs of butter to center of each pear half and cover liberally with sugar. Roast until the pears are soft and the juices have caramelized to a brownish glaze on the bottom of the pan. The butter will float on top of caramelized juices.

Transfer pears to a serving dish. Heat juices in pan over medium to high heat and add heavy cream. Simmer, stirring with a wooden spoon, until mixture forms a smooth sauce. Ladle sauce over pears and serve.

NOTICE OF PREPARATION (NOP) OF A DRAFT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT AND NOTICE OF PUBLIC SCOPING MEETING

Project: SacPort Regional Terminal, Port of Sacramento

Applicant:

SacPort Regional Terminal, c/o Wickland Oil Company, 3610 American River Drive, Suite 140, Sacramento, CA 95864

SacPort Regional Terminal (SacPort, SacPort Terminal or SacPort Regional Terminal) is seeking approval from the City of West Sacramento (City) of a Conditional Use Permit (CUP) and other entitlements to construct a new state-of the-art petroleum terminal and storage facility located on a 20-acre site along Industrial Boulevard in the Port of Sacramento. The Project proposes to relocate the operations of up to four existing petroleum terminals from along the banks of the Sacramento River which are currently operated by Chevron, ConocoPhillips, Shell and BP/ Arco. The construction of the proposed SacPort Terminal would include the consolidation of 49 existing petroleum storage tanks to approximately 17 new tanks at the Port of Sacramento site. In addition, the Project proposes to construct a new 1.8 mile pipeline connection to an existing 8-inch Chevron pipeline that currently serves Chevron's Sacramento River terminal. Construction of the new pipeline connection would extend along the south side of the Port Turning Basin from the west side of the Palmadessi Bridge to just east of Jefferson Boulevard. More information about the proposed Project can be found at the SacPort Regional Terminal Website: www.SacPortRT.com

Level of Detail of Environmental Analysis to be Included in Draft EIR

The construction and operation of the proposed SacPort Regional Terminal will be analyzed at a project-specific level of detail. The description of possible impacts that may result from the potential transfer of operations and demolition of the existing tank farms will be included in the Project Description in the Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) and analyzed at a more general programmatic level of analysis. The EIR will only address currently known groundwater conditions and any contamination associated with the existing tank farms as may be available in existing reports.

Purpose of Public Scoping Process:

The City of West Sacramento will be the Lead Agency under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and will prepare an EIR for the proposed Project. The purpose of this Notice of Preparation / Notice of Public Scoping Meeting is to obtain the views of agencies and the public as to the scope and content of the environmental information and analysis, including the significant environmental issues, reasonable alternatives and mitigation measures that should be included in the Draft EIR. Applicable agencies will need to use the EIR when considering related permits or other approvals for the proposed Project.

The location, description of the proposed Project and potential environmental effects are discussed in the attached Scoping Document. Due to the time limits mandated by State law, written comments must be sent by April 5, 2007. Submittal of electronic copies of comments in MS Word format is also appreciated.
